about me

As a professional photographer I look forward to working with you to capture stunning images of the most beautiful day of your life, and to use my long experience of wedding photography to deliver exceptional photographs and a stunning album.

I will work with both of you through your wedding day to chronicle the events with candid and formal shots, and craft your hand made high quality Italian album to be an individual and treasured memory for your future. My speciality is not to be intrusive or hinder the progress of the special events except where really necessary such as the formal shots.

Challenges are welcome such as covering unusual places and events; and I will also consider travelling with you to European cities should you need photography at your specific location.

wedding packages

Our £995 wedding package includes the first 70 images for the album and starts with an informal meeting with the bride and groom so I can discuss your special day and focus on any special shots. The wedding day photography itself starts in the brides home to capture those individual moments, onto the venue, ceremony, speeches and through until the first dance recording the day in a reportage style. At an agreed time after the day we will review the images together and select those for the album. Additional images can be included in the choice for the album at £15 per image.

Our £1295 wedding package includes the first 110 images for the album and in addition to the above includes the following special additions:

- Pre-wedding photo shoot so that you are familiar with my style at the wedding
- A sign board using an image from the photo shoot allowing your guests to write their wishes to you on a large border which is later finished by glazing the frame and presented to you for you to hang.
